

Xerochrysum bracteatum

Golden Everlasting

These very popular plants bring long-lasting color and warmth into the garden. They flower from spring through to late winter and will keep producing flowers particularly if spent flowers are continually removed. Butterflies and other insects love them and will flock to your garden adding another layer of interest. They are also excellent as dried flowers keeping their shape and color well for years - just hang a bunch up-side-down in a dark airy place and let them dry for a few weeks.

Erect perennial daisy growing up to about 90 cm tall and forming a basal rosette. Leaves are usually rough to touch. Plants are the larval food for the Australian Painted Lady Butterfly

Xerochrysum bracteatum

Golden Everlasting

These very popular plants bring long-lasting color and warmth into the garden. They flower from spring through to late winter and will keep producing flowers particularly if spent flowers are continually removed. Butterflies and other insects love them and will flock to your garden adding another layer of interest. They are also excellent as dried flowers keeping their shape and color well for years - just hang a bunch up-side-down in a dark airy place and let them dry for a few weeks.

Erect perennial daisy growing up to about 90 cm tall and forming a basal rosette. Leaves are usually rough to touch. Plants are the larval food for the Australian Painted Lady Butterfly

